Grand Opening: The Schaefer Center for the Performing Arts

There is another reason to make Boone your travel destination in the summer of 2013. This July marks the opening of the newly renovated Schaefer Center for the Performing Arts, thanks to the generosity of festival patrons Bonnie and Jamie Schaefer. Home to many festival events, the beautifully remodeled venue will greatly enhance the performance experience by offering improvements in acoustics, visibility, accessibility and audience comfort.

Thank You, Corporate & Media Sponsors!

Generous support from our sponsors enables the festival to present a diverse array of artistic programming at affordable ticket prices. We wish to thank the corporate and media sponsors that proudly support An Appalachian Summer Festival's 2013 season!

Your Gift Counts.

Maintaining quality arts programming quite simply, is expensive. Because the festival is committed to preserving affordable ticket prices and ticket revenue covers less than half of the needed income, the festival simply can't keep pace with the rising costs of presenting quality arts programs. Private support- from you and other loyal patronsis more critical than ever before.

Your support will make it possible to build the audiences of tomorrow; showcase the artists of tomorrow; raise national visibility and public awareness of the festival; continue to present the "best of the best;" and carve out a unique identity.
